MEXICO Health Insurance plans or EXPAT Healthcare Insurance

~ What's the Difference? ~

The type of healthcare insurance plans offered through Mexico Expat Health are only available to Canadian and U.S Citizens living away from their passport country (referred to as EXPATS). The insurers are U.S. based companies and all pricing is in U.S. dollars. The application process, approval and claims are all managed online.

While you can purchase private health insurance plans through a Mexico based insurance provider, the programs have significant differences compared to the insurers in the U.S. Here are the points you should be aware of when making your decision.

#1 - EXPAT Healthcare Deductibles are ANNUAL versus Mexican insurers which charge for each type of incident. In other words, you would be paying a Mexican deductible PER TYPE OF EVENT as compared to only ONE ANNUAL DEDUCTIBLE with a U.S. provider.

#2 - When dealing with a Mexican insurer all forms and communications will need to be in SPANISH. With the EXPAT insurance providers, while they can provide Spanish forms for the doctors to complete if needed, you will always be dealing in ENGLISH with the head office. They also have bilingual staff that deal with the hospitals directly.

#3 - Renewals are NOT guaranteed with a Mexican insurer and they can decide to drop your coverage based on your claims history. U.S. EXPAT plans come with guaranteed renewal for life.

#4 - There is NO CUTOFF AGE for renewals with a U.S. insurer. As long as you were enrolled in the plan prior to age 75, your coverage will renew for life.

#5 - The US EXPAT plans will cover you WORLDWIDE and can be purchased with or without coverage for the USA.
